Ben-Gurion Quits Post; Assaults Leftwing Foes

'Israeli Prestige Harmed'

Jerusalem (UPI) — Prime Minister David Ben-Gurion resigned Sunday night and dissolved his government in a quarrel with 4 leftwing cabinet ministers who opposed his sale of arms to West Germany. He said the dispute had harmed Israeli prestige.

The 74-year-old architect of Israeli independence issued a stinging letter of resignation which accused the rebellious ministers of having "violated the law". He said events leading to his decision caused "fundamental damage" to Israel's "security, political position and its international position."

Will Caretake
The white-haired prime minister, leader of Israel since its inception as an independent state in 1948, went to President Itzhak Ben-Zvi and submitted the resignations of the entire 34-year-old cabinet. He agreed, "to my regret" to stay on as caretaker premier.

Ben-Gurion attacked the 4 ministers for opposing his $3.5 million sale of 250,000 grenade launchers to West Germany—a deal that raised bitter memories of Hitler's extermination of Jews.

Raps Politicking
He said the arms deal was agreed on by the cabinet "without opposition" when it came up last December. The premier charged that his opposition sought to raise the issue to win votes in next November's general elections.

The rebellious ministers, members of the leftwing Ahdut Avoda (Unity of Labor) and Mapam (United Workers) parties, refused Ben-Gurion's ultimatum that they resign, and forced him to quit himself.

Old Battler
This was the latest in a series of crises Ben-Gurion has faced since he began fighting for establishment of an Israeli state more than half a century ago in Palestine.

Since 1948, he has been out of office only once. He retired for "reasons of health" in 1953 but returned to power again in 1955, weathering several political storms since then.

He insisted that Israel needed the arms deal with Germany as a practical matter that outweighed bitter memories of Hitler and the Nazis.

Beatrice Man Is Nebraska's 1st Weekend Traffic Fatality

Lincoln Star Special
Beatrice, Neb.—Nebraska's first 4th of July weekend traffic fatality was Edwin Meints, about 35, a Beatrice construction worker.

Meints was killed instantly about 3:30 p.m. Sunday when his car collided head on with one driven by Robert D. Litten, 23, of Swanton, Neb. Litten and his brother Darryl, 21, of Crete, who was riding with him in the car, were taken to Lutheran Hospital at Beatrice. Their condition was serious.

The accident occurred a mile northwest of Beatrice on State Highway 4. Gage County Sheriff Ned Maxwell said Darryl Litten told him that the Meints car "came straight at us and we couldn't get out of the way."

Robert Litten was pinned in the wreckage and the Litten car had to be pried apart to free him. Both cars were demolished.

Meints was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Christ H. Meints of Pickrell, Neb. Besides his parents, he is survived by his wife, Evelina and 3 children, Susan, James and Wain, all at home.

Funeral arrangements are pending at Griffith Fox Chapel in Beatrice.

Tractor Kills 9-Year-Old

Sweetwater, Neb. (UPI) — A 9-year old boy was killed in a tractor accident on his parents' farm about 3 miles north of here.

The victim was Dale McKeon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold McKeon.

Dale and his younger brother Mickey, were driving cows in from the pasture with the tractor. The vehicle tipped over and Dale was pinned beneath it and crushed.

Head On Crash Kills One, Injures Two

Darryl, a passenger in the Litten car, were both seriously injured. The accident occurred on State Highway 4, one mile northwest of Beatrice. (Star Staff Photo)

O St. Traffic Study Said Needed

By Virgil Falloon

Further traffic studies of O Street from 27th to 63rd, particularly on intersection movements, are needed before federal and state design requirements for improvement of this major arterial as an urban aid project can be determined.

Authorization for this study is expected to come this Monday from the City Council on the basis of City Engineer Carl Fisher's report of a conference between city, state and federal engineers.

The study, estimated to cost $1,000 to $1,500 and require 6 weeks to complete, would be made by the city.

City engineering officials conferred recently with state and federal engineers concerning design requirements for widening and improving O from 27th to 63rd as a federal aid project.

'55 Study Outdated

The Federal Bureau of Road engineers believe that the "meager traffic data upon which 1955 design studies were made are now inadequate and outdated," Fisher said. He pointed out that "a new and much more complete traffic survey would be required."

The proposed survey, Fisher said, is needed to show both vehicle volume and turning movement at principal intersections and would be "adjusted and evaluated and projected to the year 1980, all in light of growth and development of contributory areas, population shifts and business development."

Of particular concern is the affect of the Gateway Shopping Center development near Cotner and O on future traffic increase.

"Some doubt was expressed (at the conference) whether or not the present 66-foot O Street right-of-way could accommodate a highway capable of handling 1980 traffic," Fisher said.

Further widening of the right-of-way by reason of Wyuka and Calvary is "virtually impossible," it was pointed out.

"In such case," Fisher said, "the opinion was parallel development of Vine and Randolph Street might become necessary to relieve O Street from a portion of the traffic that would otherwise be carried on it."

The scope of the traffic survey would be enlarged to include both these streets, he said.

Street Varies

O Street now varies between 30, 35, and 40 foot widths east of 27th. The 1955 design proposed a 52-foot width to include 4 lanes and a median with special development of the principal intersections, 27th, 48th, and Cotner.

City officials have indicated doubt that a wider street could be placed on the present 66-foot right-of-way.

Fisher said the proposed survey, that is being required before design requirements can be established, would be made by the city.

Off-duty firemen would probably be recruited to make the intersection counts, Fisher said.

The widening and improvement of O east of 27th is proposed as part of the city's $16.5 million street improvement program over the next 11 years.

In recent weeks, both the development of the Northeast Diagonal from 48th to 27th and the improvement of O between 27th and 63rd have been urged before the Council.

Mayor Pat Boyles has said both proposals will be considered during the 1959-60 budget session starting about July 15.

Mid-State Hail Causes $Million Crop Damage

Hail struck an estimated 35 to 40 mile long area of Central Nebraska Sunday, virtually wiping out crops and causing some injury to livestock.

The hail, preceded or followed by rains of up to an unofficial five inches in depth, began in the Burwell area and traveled southeastward and then eastward to the Horace area.

Some crop experts estimated 10,000 to 20,000 acres of corn, alfalfa, small grains and forage crops were affected in the North Loup river valley. Loss estimates ranged to a million dollars.

Nearly all of the corn hit was of the irrigated type, increasing the loss. Hail stones ranged in size from marbles to golf balls, but observers said the most severe damage was from small stones.

John Musil, elevator manager at Holdrege, reported unofficial estimates of damage from Friday's hailstorm in Phelps county range up to five million dollars.

Bill Peterson, who farms east of Ord, said his corn crop was wiped out. He said a number of steers in the feed lot were injured "and one is down and probably won't get up."

Peterson's corn was reduced from a shoulder high crop to stalks.

The rain and hail were ac-

... After 5 MIGs Destroyed

Taipei, Formosa (UPI) — Nationalist Chinese defense forces braced Sunday for a new crisis in the Formosa Strait following the shooting down of at least 5 Communist MIG jet fighters by outnumbered Nationalist Sabrejets made in the U.S.

The downing of the Red jets in a dog fight early Sunday came just a week after Nationalist intelligence claimed Red China was building up across the strait for a new onslaught.

The defense ministry said one of the largest number of Communist troops and workers ever observed from Quemoy Island — 8,000 persons — was seen Friday building new fortifications opposite the offshore islands.

Fear Cover-Up
It was feared the Reds would open some sort of attack against the Nationalists — Perhaps increased shelling across the Formosa Strait — in order to divert attention from the loss of the MIGs.

A routine patrol of 8 F-86 Sabrejets encountered 12 of the Russian-built MIGs south of the Matsu offshore island complex early Sunday. The MIGs opened fire and 4 Sabres left formation and attacked.

The Nationalist pilots downed 5 MIGs without any Nationalist losses the air force said. A sixth MIG may have been downed by ground fire.

Reds Not Ready

The air battle—the first over the Formosa Strait since last October—followed more than 6 months of intensive flight and combat training of Communist Chinese MIG pilots.

The Reds withdrew many of their fighter planes from coastal areas last October after they lost 31 MIGs to only a single Sabrejet loss in a two-month period.

London (UPI) — A U.S. "warship" has intruded in Red Chinese territorial waters for the second time in two days, Radio Peiping charged Sunday.

The broadcast monitored here said a spokesman for the Chinese foreign ministry was authorized to give the U.S. Red China's 54th "serious warning against these military provocations by U.S. warships."

Valley WAF Critical After Gun Wound

Fiance Married Twin

Charleston, S.C. (AP) — A young Women's Air Force officer suffered a critical gunshot wound Sunday after her former fiance married her twin sister. Police were told she shot herself.

The 22-year-old twins are lieutenants stationed at Charleston Air Force Base. The shooting took place in an off-base apartment they shared.

Lt. Sandra Marsh of Valley, Neb., was listed in critical condition at Roper Hospital with a .32 caliber pistol wound in the abdomen.

The Charleston County Police Director, Marion J. Schwartz, quoted the sister, Lt. Sheila Marsh Housand, and her husband of two days saying Sandra shot herself. The bridegroom was John Housand, connected with a realty firm here.

The Marsh sisters came to Charleston in March from Valley, where they joined the Air Force last December. Sandra met Housand and they became engaged.

Sheila and Housand arrived at the twins' apartment Friday and told Sandra they were married. They said Sandra then threatened to kill herself. She became increasingly despondent over the weekend, they said.

The girls were listed as daughters of Mrs. Charles S. Marsh of Valley. Their father is dead.

Long Returns To Winnfield

Winnfield, La. (AP) — Ailing Gov. Earl Long, weakened by strenuous Fourth of July speechmaking, was reported improved Sunday night.

Long, suffering a heart condition which has caused grave concern among his physicians, was "not feeling well" when he arrived at his "Pea Patch" farm here in mid-afternoon.

After being examined by several physicians, the governor took a long nap.

He finally went to bed for the night after sitting in a rocking chair for about an hour.

Long became ill Saturday during his plane trip from Jennings to Monroe while campaigning for re-election. His trip to Winnfield Sunday was more leisurely with stops now and then for a handshake with a potential voter.

Another Brake Line Slashed

One more slashed brake line was reported to Lincoln Police Sunday, bringing the total to 14 for the last few weeks.

Mrs. Udell A. Collamore, Rt. 1, Lincoln, reported that the brake line on her car was cut sometime between 5:00 p.m., July 3rd and 1:30 a.m., July 4. The car was parked outside Ken Eddy's Restaurant where she was working at the time.

Ft. Kearny Restoration Talks Slated; Project Has Top Priority In State

By Betty Person

A chance for Nebraskans and the nation to view some of the heritage of this great state will be discussed at Minden Wednesday when serious talks begin about the restoration of Ft. Kearny—the military post which played such an important role in the lives of pioneers who opened The West.

The historically accurate reconstruction of key buildings at Ft. Kearny has "number one priority" from the State Game Commission for funds made available for this purpose by the 1959 Legislature and work is expected to begin in the spring of 1960.

Another important source of revenue for the Ft. Kearny project will come from the Harold Warp Foundation which holds funds in trust earmarked for the military post's restoration.

Warp, a native of Minden who now lives at Chicago, will attend the Wednesday meeting along with State Game Commissioners; Mel Steen, Commission executive secretary; Jack Strain and Frank Foote, Commission representatives; Sen. Richard Marvel of Hastings, and interested citizens from Buffalo and Kearney counties.

40 Acres

Ft. Kearny, located approximately 7 miles north of Minden, today comprises roughly 40 acres of state-owned land which is used as a picnic area visited by 20,000 persons annually.

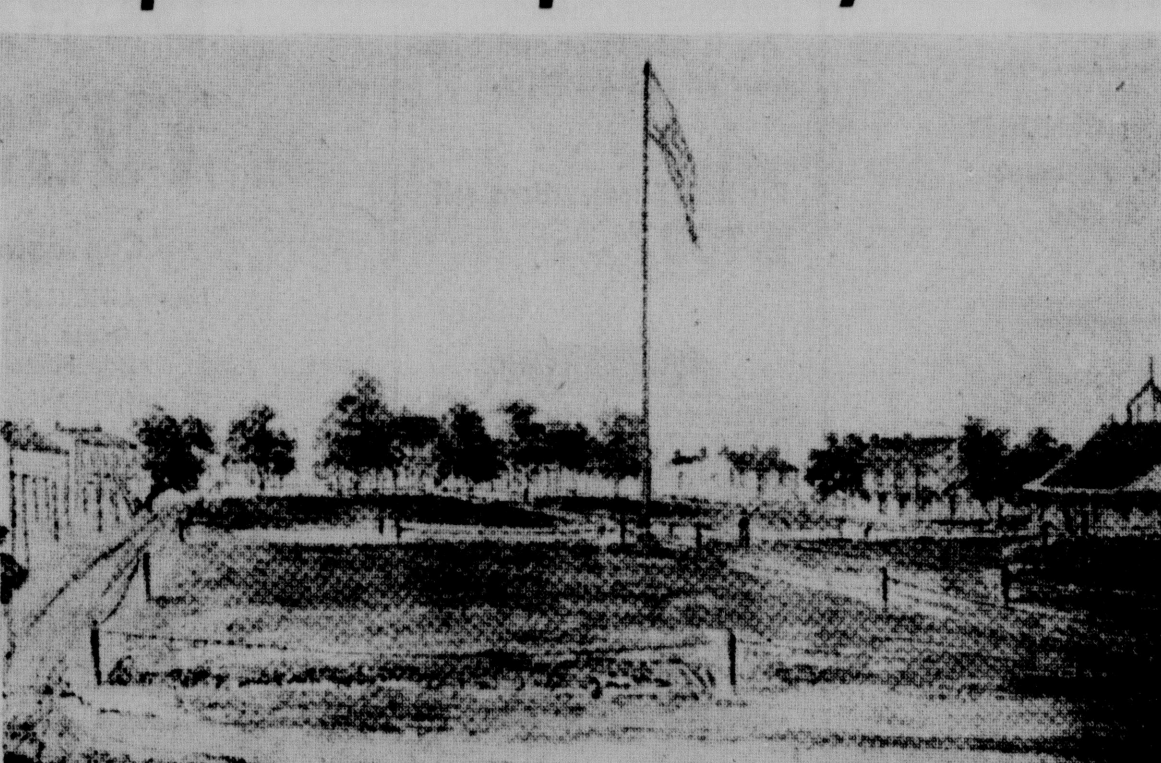

The site now is marked only by two monuments — one erected by the Veterans of Foreign Wars in honor of the soldiers and pioneers who were there during the post's active period from 1848-1871, and the other was erected by the Daughters of Union Veterans.

Nothing remains of the original buildings, but remnants of the old earthwork stockade are still visible, and several cottonwoods planted on the original site by the soldiers have reached majestic proportions of 20 to 30 feet in circumference, towering 100 feet above the Plains.

First at Nebraska City

The first Ft. Kearny was located by Col. Steven Watts Kearny at the present site of Nebraska City in 1838. Actual construction did not begin until 1846, and the fort was razed for less than two

Mosquito Control Sought

The tremendous increase in the number of irrigation wells, while responsible for boosting crop yields, has not been entirely beneficial in Nebraska.

This statement comes from Dr. Roscoe E. Hill, chairman of the Department of Entomology at the University of Nebraska. Dr. Hill says the larger number of irrigation wells has caused an increase in mosquito population in the state.

Mosquitos breed in standing water—dirty or clean, salt or fresh.

The accumulation of surface water through irrigation provides an excellent breeding place for mosquitos. The eggs cannot hatch unless they are laid on water or on places that later become flooded; the larvae cannot develop unless they have water to live in.

Therefore, a greater prevalence of mosquitos may be directly related to man's management of surface water, Dr. Hill stated.

Study Underway

Results of a study now being conducted in the Republic can River valley will be compared with data from a similar survey taken in 1948 before the area was brought under irrigation.

According to Dr. Hill, the objectives of the study include:

—to determine the effects of mosquito distribution and abundance in relation to the shift from dryland farming to irrigation farming.

—to study the ecology and biologies of specific mosquito species.

—to determine whether the prevention of breeding places will reduce the number of mosquitos.

More than 100 different species of mosquitos may be found in the United States.

A 1948 survey showed at least 33 different species in Nebraska and a possibility of even more, the University spokesman said. Although the tests have covered the Republican River valley, the North Platte River valley ranks ahead of the Republican in mosquito concentrations.

As mosquitos increase, mosquito problems become more numerous and increasingly difficult to solve.

They affect livestock and cause reductions in weight gains and milk production. They reportedly cause poultry to lose weight and lay fewer eggs.

In some areas mosquitos have attained plague proportions and seriously interfere with all agricultural operations.

Endanger Health

Mosquitos have also endangered human health. Some species carry Encephalitis (sleeping sickness). This virus has become more prominent in rural areas in recent years.

Mosquitos also interfere with physical efficiency and comfort and cause irritation to all animals.

Sukarno Gets Total Control

Jakarta, Indonesia (AP)—President Sukarno issued a decree Sunday taking full executive power over this scattered island republic.

He abolished the provisional constitution in force since 1950, ordered immediate dissolution of the constituent assembly which has been trying for nearly 4 years to rewrite it and reinstated the constitution of 1945.

That constitution, under which Sukarno has full power, will enable him to institute what he calls "guided democracy."

The constituent assembly refused several weeks ago, while Sukarno was on a long world tour, to reinstate the 1945 constitution.

Red Paper Raps SAC

London (UPI)—The "underground headquarters" of the United States Strategic Air Command (SAC) in Nebraska prove that SAC has been set up for "aggression and provocation," Radio Moscow said Sunday in a broadcast quoting the newspaper "Red Star."

The paper said facts contained in a dispatch of June 13, describing a visit by French correspondents to the SAC installation, proved the "aggressive" purpose of SAC, whose activities "are pregnant with the danger of a new world war."

"Red Star" wrote, "Is there any guarantee that the exhausting training and provocative flights in the direction of the imaginary enemy will not lead to catastrophic results owing to an airman's mental disorder, hitches in communication or a false alarm?"

"Red Star" said SAC was engaged in a "dangerous and risky gamble" which "can cost millions of lives," and which cannot be justified by reference to the defense of the U.S.A., which no one is threatening.

The celebrations took place in the dining room of the intourist hotel.

Gov. Leroy Collins of Florida proposed the toast. The local orchestra added to the festivities by playing American jazz.

The party returns to Moscow Monday for a 4-day round of meetings with various Soviet officials—possibly including Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

Hong Kong Said Center Of Slave Ring

Sydney, Australia (UPI)—A newspaper said Sunday a swank hotel in Kowloon, Hong Kong, was the headquarters for a huge international ring that has been smuggling Chinese "slave laborers" into Australia and other countries since World War II.

The Sunday Telegraph said it had learned that the "go-between" for the bosses of the smuggling ring in Hong Kong and seamen who transport "yellow fish" immigrants throughout the world was known as "the Little Lady of Kowloon."

The newspaper claimed that in the past 5 years "hundreds" of illegal aliens have passed through the hotel "on their way to a life of misery and suffering."

Items Of Trade

It said more than 50 Chinese had been "sold" to Chinese businessmen in Sydney during the past 30 days.

The smuggling racket was revealed 10 days ago after police skin-divers fished the shrouded bodies of two Chinese from the waters of Sydney harbor.

Police said the alleged leader of the smugglers aboard the Chinese freighter Taiyuan admitted that 5 illegal aliens had been locked into an airless secret locker when customs officials arrived. Two died of suffocation.

Police pressed their search Sunday for the other 3 aliens, who they believe are now at large in the city's huge Chinatown.

Weekend Rains Cut Southeastern Area Harvest

★ ★ ★ Boom Rate For New Govt. Bins Two Counties Storage Up

Sidney, Neb. (AP) — Kimball and Cheyenne County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation (ASC) offices report having done a "land office" business in farm storage construction by individual farmers since the 1958 wheat harvest.

An estimated 900,000 bushels of non-commercial storage facilities have been added by farmers in those two counties during the past year.

Coupled with a construction boom in the commercial storage facilities, it would put new storage capacity in the two counties at more than 2,500,000—all built since the last harvest.

Cheyenne County ASC manager Don Rapp reported that some 347,000 bushels of storage has been constructed under the farm storage facility loan program alone. In addition, there has been considerable non-commercial storage construction by other means.

In Kimball County, ASC manager Don Maxsted said 89,762 bushels have been added since the last harvest and another 127,799 bushels of storage facilities will be available in time for this year—for a total of 217,561 bushels under the farm storage loan program.

He estimated that total non-commercial storage increased in Kimball County this year at about half a million bushels.

One ASC official explained that the program was "not in competition" with commercial storage but that it permitted farmers to store their own grain until they wanted to sell it when they could take advantage of higher wheat prices throughout the year.

Elevators Outside Rain Zone Stay Open To Handle Damp Crop

Heavy weekend rains stalled small grain harvests in Southeast Neb. Saturday and Sunday. Most elevators in the Lincoln area were closed as farmers waited for soggy fields to dry.

Lancaster County Extension Agent Emery Nelson reported that only 10 to 15% of the county's wheat had been harvested. "The harvest should be finished sometime this week if we have good weather," Nelson said.

Oats Not Started

Farmers in the Falls City area have "about 50% of the wheat crop in but haven't started on the oats yet", according to elevator operators.

Rains in southeastern Nebraska ranged from 1.60 to 2.60 inches with Beatrice reported the high figure. Some streets in Beatrice had 3 ft. of water in them after a Saturday downpour, police said. No property damage was reported, however.

The Big Blue River crested at bankfull in Crete Saturday afternoon and was running "pretty high" in Beatrice. Rivers at Falls City were running approximately 3/4 full but no flooding was expected at any of these stations.

Ready To Go

Most farmers are ready to jump back into their fields as soon as weather permits, but the forecast isn't favorable for Tuesday. The state is to have cloudy to partly cloudy skies with scattered showers and thunderstorms.

Some Elevators Open

Meanwhile, some south central and western elevators outside the rain area stayed open over the holiday to handle new wheat.

Indications are that wheat yields are about what experts expected—good where disease was curbed and poor where it hit.

Fields escaping Hessian fly infestation are averaging 30 to 45 bushels per acre. Where the disease struck, yields are down to 8 to 10 bushels.

Reports indicate that late June rains have upped the moisture content of new wheat considerably. Moisture content of the first load delivered in North Platte was 12.90. The dark, hard wheat sold for $1.60 per bushel on a 60 pound weight.

Necessities Of Life

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

If you are the kind of person who has a back-scratcher in the house, you might be interested in some of the latest patents taken out in Washington. That seems to be about how useful some of them are. After all, the fellow who can't talk his wife into scratching his back or can't use a comb or doorway frame just isn't very resourceful.

By way of patents, you might be interested in a gadget called a worm-picker. This is for the fisherman who has everything. It consists of a sort of walking stick with which the fisherman can pick up worms. In the end of the stick is a clamp which, when triggered, clamps around the worm but does not squash it. This is certainly essential as there is nothing worse for fishing than a squashed worm. It just doesn't get the job done, at all. With this little device, you can firmly but not too firmly pick up the worm, never getting your fingers dirty, and deposit it in your bait can. The release on the clamp is also a triggered affair.

But this is not all. As a special added attraction, one may attach a flashlight to this stick to assist in the hunting of nightcrawlers—the champagne of bait among the worm family. This is not just a convenience, it is the height of laziness. Just imagine the reaction, Dad, if you came home with a worm-picker in which you had invested five or six hard-earned dollars.

Quite frankly, you would likely get hit over the head with it, and be deserving of it. To make this quite understandable to everyone, you should know what a nightcrawler is and how the average person goes about getting them.

Have you ever noticed anyone stalking a neighborhood in the early evening hours, apparently in search of something he must have lost? It is a suspicious looking thing to those who are not educated in the art but such a person is probably looking for nightcrawlers. These are bigger-than-average worms which come out at night in damp weather and lie on top of the ground.

A flashlight locates them and the bait-hunter must then spring into action. The sudden light alerts the nightcrawler to danger and his first thought is to crawl back into his hole in the ground. But before he can do this, the hunter must quickly grab him and whisk him into the bait can. All of this is not as easy as it might sound as the nightcrawler moves very rapidly.

However, none of this may be of any interest to you if you are not a sportsman. In that case, perhaps you might be intrigued by the latest style sleep mask patented in Washington. Don't scoff at this, as it is not just the old horse-blinders kind of thing which keeps the morning sun from disturbing you.

This here sleep mask, folks, is based on genuine scientific fact. Just stay with us a minute and we'll tell you all about it. It comes from a Cuban lawyer who affirms he talked it over with some of his medical friends. Now, how much more science do you want than that? The mask not only shuts out the light but is equipped with a little cotton pad which exerts a pressure on the roof of the eyesocket (medically speaking, the upper orbital rim).

This pressure, according to the patent, has a soothing and relaxing effect upon the many nerves that crisscross the upper and inner areas of the eye. But you better hurry and get your orders in, friends, as the supply is limited. But these deep subjects just get us confused, so back, if you don't mind, to something more practical. As practical, for instance, as the inventor of a composite fish lure, can opener and bottle decapper. Frankly, we never imagined the fish were interested in can openers and bottle decappers but you learn something new every day.

Honestly, though, we think the fish are too smart to go for a lure which incorporates a can opener and bottle decapper. Besides, such a thing as that would ruin fishing trips. The best part of many a trip is meeting the challenge of a capped bottle without a decapper or a sealed can without an opener. But it does go to show that there must be an awful lot of gullible fishermen in the world.

Three-Way Appliance

The Green Man

You can be assured that Hollywood has no monopoly on the eerie or fantastic. A writer for the North American Newspaper Alliance has told about an operation in Melbourne, Australia, in which the patient was turned green for the treatment of severe burns. But it had nothing to do with entertainment, as any such Hollywood version would.

This was a rare operation, only the second one performed since the formula involved was discovered by an English doctor. The formula is injected into the blood stream and circulates through every artery and vein in the body, turning the patient a deep green. However, tissue destroyed by burns remains colorless, so the surgeon knows exactly what flesh to remove.

Since this operation was completed, another man has been injected with the formula for the removal of infected and diseased bone. The infected bone remained colorless while the healthy bone turned green. Thus, the surgeon again knew exactly what to cut away, although he reportedly found it more difficult to operate with green blood oozing from the incisions.

The operation, of course, is a fantastic sight around the hospital. When the patient sees himself, it is quite a shock and other patients hardly know what to think. But in a relatively short period of time, the patient fades back to normal color. The turning of an individual green is, in itself a fascinating spectacle. But aside from the spectacular aspects of the thing, it is also hailed as another magnificent medical achievement.

These are the kind of world developments of which we can never see enough. They are a sample of what the world could achieve if its efforts were devoted to entirely peaceful pursuits.

Potential Good Lost

It will be entertaining for awhile to watch the verbal war now going on between Republicans and Democrats. Perhaps "Democrats" should be made singular as Gov. Ralph Brooks appears to be the only one doing battle. This isn't exactly Brooks' fault, but comes about because he is, as governor, considered the kingpin of his party and he has been the only object of Republican attacks.

Gov. Victor Anderson, during his term of office, was also the subject of attacks against the Republican party. The difference now, however, is that Brooks delights in answering his critics while Anderson preferred to turn a deaf ear to them. So long as Brooks continues to answer charges made against him, neither party is likely to gain much from the exchange. It all boils down, more or less, to personalities and the public isn't too concerned about that when it goes to the polls.

In fact, the GOP attacks, if continued in the present vein, might well impress the public with the fact that the party has little by way of a real issue to discuss with the Democrats. If all they find in their own behalf is the claim that Brooks' friends and people who knew him didn't vote for him or that he talks too much, they are going to have a hard time selling themselves.

Obviously, the secret ballot rules out the possibility of anyone knowing how anybody voted. And as for Brooks talking too much, he does no more now than he did when a majority of the people of Nebraska voted for him. But the humor of all this will wear off long before the next election rolls around. This could be avoided and perhaps something constructive accomplished if the politicians would switch their discussions to affairs of the state.

They might expound, for instance, on what they think the future of the state holds for its citizens by way of a better life. They might discuss with some semblance of sanity the industrial potential of the state, the form of state government, future financial problems, the problems of education, etc. In this way, thought will be centered on something which may be of a help to the state and the public might find something more than personalities on which to cast their vote.

Foreign Aid Compromise

Senate Democrats have had a hard time reaching agreement among themselves on the question of the new foreign aid bill but the majority position has been a victory for President Eisenhower. Whether, in the long run, it is a victory for the United States remains to be seen. The victory came with the cutting of the development loan fund from $5 billion to $2 billion and from five years to two years.

It is hard to say which of these two things is the greatest loss. The cut in the total amount of money will mean just that much less help from the U.S. to nations attempting to place themselves on a strong financial basis. It comes, too, at a time when Russia is stepping up her own economic offensive in all parts of the world—making loans and grants for various public improvements.

The cutting of the program from five to two years and making it dependent upon congressional approval each year is a different problem but an important one. Had the five-year plan with treasury borrowing to finance it been approved, the loan fund provision of the foreign aid program would have had a permanency that would have permitted much better planning.

It would give assurance to underdeveloped nations that the compromise agreed to cannot give. It would have removed the possibility of projects being started and never finished and of future funds being tied to political apron strings. This could have added a great deal to the success of the program.

Kennedy Feels Out California Primary

WASHINGTON — Two significant developments are taking place in the uneasy Near East.

(1) Col. Nasser is trying to cozy up to the United States in order to get dollars to build himself out of his financial mess. His latest hint is that he will reject Russia's offer to build the Aswan Dam if the United States will step in and help him.

(2) Nasser is cracking down on Israeli shipping through Suez even though it's carried in neutral ships. Recently the Egyptians confiscated Israeli exports on the Danish freighter Inge Toft. The cargo consisted of 4,000 tons of cement for Hong Kong, 1,500 tons of potash for Manila, and other smaller quantities of goods for Japan.

At the time Israel withdrew its forces from Suez at the insistence of President Eisenhower, he told the American people in a radio-TV address Feb. 20, 1957: "We should not assume that if Israel withdraws, Egypt will prevent Israeli shipping from using the Suez Canal. If, unhappily, Egypt does hereafter violate the armistice agreement, then this should be dealt with firmly by the society of nations."

So far, nothing has been done by the United Nations regarding Egyptian violations. The Eisenhower administration has also been loath to act. It tried to steer clear of any action regarding seizure of the cargo from the Inge Toft. However, the Danish ship happened to be chartered to a New York company, the Mediterranean Supply Agency. Therefore, the American embassy sent its No. 2 man, Norbert Anschuetz, around to the Egyptian Foreign office in Cairo to explain gingerly that the embassy was duty bound to protect American property.

Gov. Abe Ribicoff, who was elected by a heavy Catholic vote in Connecticut, has become the unofficial ambassador for Sen. Jack Kennedy of Massachusetts.

Journeying all the way to California in quest of presidential delegates, Gov. Ribicoff interviewed Gov. Pat Brown, another Democrat, and Roger Kent, Democratic state chairman. Neither gave him any satisfaction.

Gov. Ribicoff was polite but tough. He refused to promise that Kennedy would stay out of the California primary.

Later Kent flew to Washington where he talked personally to Sen. Kennedy. With a smile, he repeated his warning, "We're all going to be on the Brown delegation," he said. "The instinct of self-preservation is very strong, and we're going to do our best to beat anyone who comes into the state."

Kennedy, in equal good humor, explained that he felt he had to enter the state primaries or otherwise he would be killed off at the presidential convention by party leaders in the smoke-filled rooms. If, however, he had enough delegates before the convention opened, he felt it would be difficult for the party leaders to kill him in the secret huddles.

MARQUIS CHILDS

Suppression Out In Free Society

WASHINGTON — What is profoundly disturbing about the attack of the House Un-American Activities Committee on the artists whose paintings have been chosen for the American exhibit in Moscow is that it blurs over the distinction between a closed society and a free society.

Chairman Francis Walter (D., Pa.) seems to want to have the government determine the kind of art that will be displayed in accord with a politician's view of what art should be. He should go to the Soviet exhibit in New York if he really wants to see what happens when government dictates the kind of art the people shall see.

The art section of the exhibit in New York's coliseum follows a Soviet line laid down as rigidly as that which dictates political thinking in Russia. It is "socialist realism," which means that the painter or sculptor must serve the purposes of socialism and represent all workers as happy, happy people building a great happy socialist state. The result is almost always sentimental and unconvincing, and, above all, mawkish.

The concept behind the American art in Moscow was that it should be selected by a jury of independent experts. That jury was in turn picked by a panel of distinguished educators and museum directors. The jury was concerned with letting the Russians see the various directions in which a free art had moved in this country since World War I.

What Representative Walter and his committee are doing is to seem to put the United States in the same role as the Kremlin dictating what artists shall paint and how they shall think. This is to nullify in part at least the triumph that "Dr. Zhivago" represented for the West.

If we are to have a free society then we must understand that with its triumphs goes the often-painful necessity of living up to truths no matter how unpleasant they may be. There was an outcry of indignation when a Soviet newspaper reported that 1,000,000 people in New York City live in squalor. Yet on the day the Soviet exhibit opened the Journal-American, a Hearst newspaper, printed a story about the 9,000,000 rats infesting New York's slums. Previously a three-month-old baby had been bitten to death by rats. The idea in a free society is that when evils are exposed they will be corrected by public demand.

A closed society, such as the Soviet Union, can admit no errors whatsoever. It must maintain the false front of perfection—no crime, no slums, no poverty. The way of a free society puts a much greater burden on the individual and his conscience. On the right of conscience painfully won the West has come to greatness.

Wonders Of The Universe

Able and Baker, the first living animals to have survived a flight into space, will long be remembered as "manned" space trips.

Unlike Laika, the Russian dog who rode a rocket to her death, and other experimental animals who perished in flight, the two monkeys were the first to demonstrate that astronauts can be returned safely to Earth.

They paved the way for the men chosen for the Mercury Project of the next two years. These men will leave Earth knowing they can return safely, that every facet of launching, operation and control has been tested.

The first step probably will be to send a man for a short flight involving about five minutes of weightlessness, as against the 15 minutes spent by Able and Baker.

Our most reliable rocket vehicle, the Redstone, will be able to send a cabin capsule carrying a man to a height of about 100 miles at a top speed of about 5,000 feet a second. A short-range launching will be used so the capsule slows almost to a standstill at the top of the trajectory curve and regains the top speed by the time it re-enters the atmosphere.

Automatic drag parachutes will slow the capsule for a safe landing. The total time from launch to impact will be from 10 to 12 minutes.

In successive flights the range can be extended until the astronauts will experience weightlessness for much longer period of time. It must be remembered that in these preliminary trials, the astronauts will be flying a ballistic course above the atmosphere of the earth, not an orbiting flight.

To get into this ballistic trajectory and return means that the astronauts will be subject to high accelerations. During the launch they will reach a peak acceleration of 8.6 g's (force exerted on the body by the earth's normal gravity). This on re-entry may go up to 9 g's. In case of misfire or an abort, an escape mechanism will eject the capsule perhaps a half-mile into the atmosphere, and will subject an occupant to accelerations of 18 to 20 g's. But the astronauts will have experienced this type of stress in their training program and scientists are not too much concerned about their ability to withstand it.

Following these short-range tests, the Jupiter will be used. The size of this rocket booster will permit full-range capsule tests. It is conceivable that by the end of this year complete studies will have been made of the aerodynamic qualities of the capsule and the reliability of the retro-rockets in extended flight.

Sometime during 1961, when all tests at Cape Canaveral, Fla., have been completed, a manned capsule will be mounted on top of an Atlas booster. When the rocket system rises, it will be headed north of east to make an angle of 30 degrees with the earth's equator. When the capsule separates, the astronaut will be riding forward at an altitude of about 110 miles in a real orbit. Just how many passes around the earth he will make is undisclosed. But when he is ready to return, the capsule will be maneuvered to turn around and the man will come down backwards.

The retro-rockets will slow the capsule at the beginning of re-entry into the atmosphere. A heavy metal "heat sink" will absorb the heat created by friction. When the capsule has slowed to the velocity of sound, a drogue parachute will pop open to provide dynamic stability. Finally, two landing parachutes will slow the capsule so it will land on the earth with a speed of about 30 feet a second.

Suggested questions from readers are welcomed.

QUESTION OF THE WEEK: SHOULD THE CITY CONCENTRATE ON THE IMPROVEMENT OF EXISTING STREETS SUCH AS EAST O, ETC., OR SHOULD IT GIVE MORE EMPHASIS TO THE DEVELOPMENT OF NEW ARTERIALS SUCH AS THE NORTHEAST DIAGONAL?

Likes Nebraska

Lincoln, Neb.
The other day I picked up an older copy of the Star and saw a letter from someone in Marysville, Kan., who said they were glad they didn't live in Nebraska. Well, I can tell them right now that Nebraska is my native state and I am proud of her. There was desecration in the Starkweather case but I am a very aged person and can mention some things that happened in Kansas in the old days that were no credit to the state.

When I was a child I lived in Caldwell and later in Dodge City. It was a fine day when someone wasn't killed. There are as many law abiding people in Nebraska as there are anywhere so please don't judge us by what one misguided youth has done.

I was born in Fremont, Neb., 84 years ago and then moved to Caldwell and it sure was rough. Dodge City was worse so don't throw mud on the white spot of the nation.

BRIDGET WELSH

Public Salaries

Crete, Neb.
I was glad to see The Star say something in favor of better salaries for public officials. I was one of these officials for a good many years but finally was forced to find work elsewhere as I couldn't support my family on what I made from the government.

Too many people think someone who works for the government is just looking for an easy job. But these workers do a full and honest day's work and perform a needed service. Where would you be without your firemen, policemen, street repairmen, city clerks and others?

If the pay for public officials isn't raised to somewhere near that of private business we are going to have more and more dishonesty and laziness in public life.

Hill-Billy Singer

There was the rise and fall of the hill-billy composer and erstwhile singing star with the adenoid delivery, who found his bonanza, and lost it. When he produced his "Extravaganza," an endless rendition, stanza by stanza, of his hill-billy songs, that drew hill-billy throngs. He was sure he had struck a bonanza.

For he could warble, as well as compose. He could croon through either side of his nose. And if one adenoid He over-employed. He turned in the other whenever he chose.

Surprisingly soon he was on TV. And his credit was good; no more C.O.D. So he bought a guitar And a Cadillac car. And he gave the junk man his Model T. But his adenoids were soon overworked. So he went to a doctor and had them jerked. And his fans all said His career was dead: While his silent ambush each creditor lurked.

So he hit for the hills and his tumble-down shack. And the dealer reprieved the Cadillac Of his hill-billy star. Is now on the music store's bargain rack.

BOB CONSIDINE

Summer Study And Pill Craze

NEW YORK — People... Places... Things... Terribly exasperated by the attitude of some of the Russian officials who are supervising the American exhibition at Moscow, one of our officials exploded at a meeting:

"You fellows sound to me like a bunch of Communists!"

Couldn't understand it, momentarily, when nobody seemed angry.

Sam Goldwyn's next picture, which he will begin at the age of 76 or 77, will be about the Middle East. It won't be about Israel. "That would be too obvious—for me, a Jew," Sam told us.

"Then what will it be about?" I asked, innocently. Goldwyn grinned like a cheshire cat.

"That's precisely what I won't tell you," he said. "If I did, and you printed it, at least seven other pictures on the same theme would come out before I get mine ready."

When I was a kid I thought that going to summer school was akin to going to reform school. A kid had to be a hopeless jerk to be faced with the necessity of summer school.

Something of that old prejudice still lingered in me when I recently took a boy of ours to a summer school. I had visions of his sitting in the middle of an otherwise empty classroom, an outcast who hadn't been able to square a triangle during the regular semester.

Nearly got trampled. There were 500 others there, waiting to be registered... some of them making up flunked grades, but many (commendably enough) taking courses months in advance of their normal schedule.

Speaking of school work, parents who have learned to steel themselves against all modern educational innovations might as well get set now for another jolt—

A four-year study of several thousand California and New York school children has shown that children who are fed vitamin-mineral capsules exhibit a definite edge over non-pill takers in mental and physical abilities.

The Upjohn people, who are concerned with such crises, report that 65 per cent of our school children have diet deficiencies (59 per cent in families of the high-income status).

Boys' Staters Make Good Show On Physical Tests

By George Meyer

Nebraska high school juniors are in pretty good shape—physically that is. In fact, on the average, the lads from the Cornhusker state are in better physical condition than the American citizen normally is.

That's according to information compiled by two University of Nebraska physical education professors, Ed Higgenbotham and Dr. Carl Wear.

The two profs reached their conclusions by studying the results of a national physical fitness test given to Nebraska Boys' Staters during their week long experience in self-government at the University's ag campus June 13-20.

Through Test

Besides pullups and situps, the test consisted of a standing broad jump, shuttle run, 50 yd. dash, and 600 yd. run-walk.

"We were pleasantly surprised at the marks most of the boys made," Higgenbotham said. He reported that 12 of the 327 Boys' Staters could not take the test because of physical handicaps.

Some 167 boys ranked in the 50th percentile. That means they ranked higher than 50 per cent of people who took the test throughout the nation. Of these, 69 scored better than 80 per cent of those participating nationally.

3 Groups

The boys were divided into 3 classifications for the test. Division was on the basis of age, height and weight. Jerry McRoberts of Dalton and Dennis Albers of Hastings each scored 580 out of a possible 600 to take top honors in class A.

Class B, for shorter, lighter boys, was won by Doug Abberding of Harvard and Dick Longstein of Walthill, each with 575. Leon Dappen of Lincoln took class C with 515 points.

"All in all, Nebraska boys proved that they were a little more physically fit than the average," Higgenbotham said. "And remember, they did this without any practice. If we gave the same boys the same test again, many of the scores would be much higher."

Study Planned

Higgenbotham and Wear have sent the results of the test to Washington. They plan to study the marks further and do a research paper on them.

Higgenbotham pointed out that Nebraska is the first state to give the tests to a representative group of boys from throughout the state.

"It went pretty well this year, but we plan to make some changes, next year—principally we plan to give the boys more time," Higgenbotham said.

After all, with practice Nebraska boys may really outscore those from other states.

The two profs reached their conclusions by studying the results of a national physical fitness test given to Nebraska Boys' Staters during their week long experience in self-government at the University's ag campus June 13-20.

Besides pullups and situps, the test consisted of a standing broad jump, shuttle run, 50 yd. dash, and 600 yd. run-walk.

"We were pleasantly surprised at the marks most of the boys made," Higgenbotham said. He reported that 12 of the 327 Boys' Staters could not take the test because of physical handicaps.

Some 167 boys ranked in the 50th percentile. That means they ranked higher than 50 per cent of people who took the test throughout the nation. Of these, 69 scored better than 80 per cent of those participating nationally.

The boys were divided into 3 classifications for the test. Division was on the basis of age, height and weight. Jerry McRoberts of Dalton and Dennis Albers of Hastings each scored 580 out of a possible 600 to take top honors in class A.

Class B, for shorter, lighter boys, was won by Doug Abberding of Harvard and Dick Longstein of Walthill, each with 575. Leon Dappen of Lincoln took class C with 515 points.

"All in all, Nebraska boys proved that they were a little more physically fit than the average," Higgenbotham said. "And remember, they did this without any practice. If we gave the same boys the same test again, many of the scores would be much higher."

Minds Must Be Challenged, Senior Citizens Head Says

By Margrethe Plum

"The mind is the biggest gland of the body, and the brain is the master of them all. If the mind is kept alive and full of challenges, then most physical ills will be lessened."

This was one of the thoughts presented by Dr. Joy Elmer Morgan, president and founder of the Senior Citizens of America, to 21 local Senior Citizens, Sunday.

"Since the time of primitive man, life expectancy has steadily gone up," stated Dr. Morgan. "This has had amazing consequences. At present, the over-65 population in the U.S. equals 15 million people."

"Should Grow"

"One who has reached middle life should take civic responsibility and should continue to grow and be useful," he said.

Senior Citizens of America is the largest organization of its kind in the world, with national headquarters in Washington D.C. The group places emphasis on the "normal" citizen. The SCA is concerned with "what the citizen can do, not what he can get." It is a learning organization for people "who realize we live in a new age."

Organized on Columbus Day 1954, the SCA now has "the beginnings" of a trained staff in Washington. The non-profit organization is debt free. Dr. Morgan predicts that "the SCA will become to adult education what the PTA is to the youngsters education."

Missile Site Entrance Try Set—Pacifists

Omaha (UPI)—Two members of "Omaha Action" a group protesting the construction of missile bases in the area, announced Saturday night they would try to gain entrance to the Mead CBM site Monday morning at 10 a.m.

Three members, including the leader, the Rev. A. J. Muste, were arrested Wednesday when they refused to leave the base and were charged with trespassing.

The pacifists who said they would try to get on the base were David Wyland, 23, Toledo, Ohio, and Wilmer J. Young, 71, Wallingford, Pa.

The pacifists said they questioned whether nuclear deterrence was an effective instrument of national policy.

Ft. Kearny Restoration Talked years before it was discontinued.

In 1847, Lt. Daniel P. Woodbury located the site of the present Ft. Kearny "opposite a group of wooded islands in the Platte River 17 miles south from where the Oregon Trail turns to the south from the Platte River."

Construction of buildings of wood, sod and adobe brick was begun in the spring of 1848. There were officers' quarters, barracks, a mess hall, storeroom, stables, a guard house, hospital, post office, bakery, granary, and other buildings of lesser importance constructed during the fort's active years.

Earthworks Still There

The still visible earthworks south and east of the parade grounds were erected under order of Gen. Livingston in 1864 as added protection against Indian disturbances which reached their height of violence that year.

According to "Heroes Without Medals" by Roy T. Bang, a pioneer history of Kearney County, the Indian raids began that year without warning and ranged from one end of the Nebraska territory to the other.

The attacks became so violent that the overland stage service had to be abandoned, and westbound traffic on the north side of the Platte was forced to ford the river near Ft. Kearny and join with those on the Oregon Trail for protection.

The handful of soldiers in the region were almost helpless against the Indians who, fearful of losing their land and homes, had sworn to kill every white man, woman and child in the area.

Soldiers were on duty night and day and many lost their lives as they sought to protect the pioneers, but within the year the Indians' vengeance had spent itself and gradually life returned to the plains. Stage stations were rebuilt, settlers returned and the march westward was resumed.

Discontinued In 1871

In May, 1871, the War Department issued an order discontinuing Ft. Kearny as a military post.

Restoration of the site has long been a dream of many Nebraskans, particularly Harold Warp who founded Pioneer Village at Minden which contains many relics of Nebraska's early history.

Estimated cost of the restoration is about $200,000, and it is believed this investment will be returned many-fold with upwards of 300,000 persons expected to visit the fort annually.

Sen. Marvel noted that reconstruction and development of some of the state's many historical sites to attract tourists could become one of Nebraska's greatest industries.

Nebraska is rich in the history of the Great West, he commented, and its story should be told to impress upon people, particularly the younger generation, the struggle of the pioneers in building our civilization.

Royal Pair Now In U.S.

Chicago (UPI) — Queen Elizabeth's royal yacht Britannia steamed through the crowded Straits of Mackinac Sunday en route to Chicago and the only U.S. stop of her current tour.

Three U.S. Army howitzers boomed out a 21-gun salute at noon as the yacht and its escort of U.S., Canadian and British destroyers passed the historic straits leading into Lake Michigan.

The queen and her consort, Prince Philip, waved from the deck to the first all-American crowd of their tour through the vast inland waterway empire opened by the St. Lawrence Seaway. Canadian Prime Minister John F. Diefenbaker accompanied them.

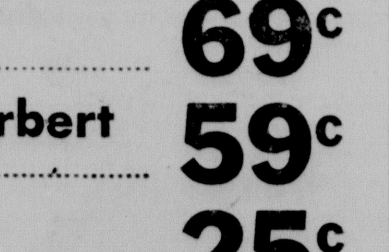

Traffic Halted

As the Britannia sailed under the 5-mile Mackinac Bridge — the world's longest suspension bridge — state troopers backed up cars at both approaches as a precautionary measure. It was one of the biggest weekend traffic jams in the straits history.

Chicago was a shined-up, excited city on the eve of the arrival of the 33-year-old monarch of the British Commonwealth.

The city which once elected a mayor on his platform promise to "punch King George in the snoot" had done all in its power to give King George's granddaughter a welcome fit for a queen.

CHEVROLET

No wonder more people are buying Chevrolets in '59 than any other car

ONE OF THE 7 BIG BESTS CHEVROLET GIVES YOU OVER ANY CAR IN ITS FIELD

Take it, not from us, but from official results of this year's Mobilgas Economy Run: Chevy's pennypinching 6 delivers the most miles per gallon in its field. For a pair of these Chevrolet sixes with Powerglide walked away with the first two places in their class, getting 22.38—of any full-size car. And here are more expert, impartial opinions and on-the-record facts backing us up on Chevy's other six bests:

BEST TRADE-IN

Check the figures in any N.A.D.A.* Guide Book. Chevrolet used car prices last year averaged up to $128 higher than comparable models of the "other two."

BEST STYLE

It's the only car of the leading low-priced 3 that's unmistakably modern in every line. "In its price class," says POPULAR SCIENCE magazine, "a new high in daring styling."

BEST BRAKES

In direct competitive tests of repeated stops from highway speeds, conducted by NASCAR, Chevrolet out-stopped both of the other leading low-priced cars—and why not? Chevy brakes are far larger, built with bonded linings, to help lengthen brake life by as much as 66%.

BEST ROOM

Official dimensions reported to A.M.A. make this clear. For example, Chevy front seat hip room is up to 5.9 inches wider than comparable cars.

BEST ENGINE

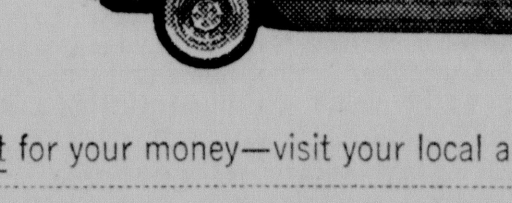

Every motor magazine has given Chevrolet's standard and Corvette

V8's unstinted praise. As SPORTS CARS ILLUSTRATED puts it: "Indeed this device is surely the most wonderfully responsive engine available today at any price."

BEST RIDE

MOTOR TREND magazine calls Chevy "... the smoothest, most quiet, softest riding car in its price class." You'll be able to tell this yourself, instantly. And your Chevrolet dealer can tell you about a long list of other advantages besides these 7 big ones!

Dear Abby . . .

2 Sides To The Problem

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I have a wonderful wife and six fine kids but my wife talks on the telephone all day and in the evenings when I come home she starts doing her washing, ironing and housework. She never sits down and watches TV with me because she is so busy doing other things. She even does canning at night and our deep freeze is full.

At night she falls into bed and is so tired she turns on her side and goes to sleep. I am about to crack up. She went to the doctor and he told her she was good for a hundred years yet. I make good money but I am lonesome.

GETTING GREY
DEAR ABBY: There is a reason why your wife knocks herself out all evening and falls into bed exhausted. It furnishes her with an excuse for avoiding you. Get to the bottom of it by talking it over with her. The fault could be yours.

DEAR ABBY: Only God (and now you) knows how I have prayed and wept because of what I have found out recently.

The man I took to be my adored husband sixteen years ago has been molesting our two little girls who are 6 and 8. I can't tell you how this has torn me apart. I do not want a broken home, yet I cannot tolerate this. Please, Abby, can you or anyone else help me?

BROKEN-HEARTED
DEAR BROKEN-HEARTED: Your husband is a sick man. Before the day is over, call your family doctor and he will tell you exactly what to do.

DEAR ABBY: Will you please print this in the paper as soon as possible? My daughter is 20 pounds overweight and she has resolved to lose every pound of it within three weeks for a special occasion. She is eating nothing but 3 pieces of fruit a day, two eggs and a pint of skim milk. She won't believe me when I tell her she is ruining her health. She is 17 and my only child.

VERY WORRIED
DEAR WORRIED: Take your daughter to a doctor and let him examine her and recommend the proper diet. Radical and unsupervised dieting is more dangerous than most people realize.

DEAR ABBY: Please tell this little story to the woman who complained because her husband never called her mother "MOM."

Someone asked my mother-in-law what her daughters-in-law and sons-in-law called her.

She said, "The first year they call me "MRS. McGUIRE" — and after that they call me "GRANDMA." VELMA

If you have a problem, write to Abby Van Buren in care of this paper. She will be glad to answer your letter. For a personal reply, enclose a self-addressed envelope.

An Evening Ceremony

MRS. WILLIAM ROWE POLLARD

At a 7:30 o'clock ceremony on Sunday evening, July 5, the marriage of Miss Marlene Sue Multer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Merle S. Multer, to William Rowe Pollard of Alliance, son of Mr. and Mrs. William O. Pollard of Sterling, Colo., took place at the Seventh-Day Adventist Church. The Rev. M. S. Culver read the lines of the service before a background of candlelight and greenery, and Miss Rosella Reiner played the wedding music. Richard Pollard was the vocal soloist, and Stanley Dickson the violinist.

Embroidered sheaths of mint green cotton, styled with empire bodices accented with back bows of organdy, were chosen for the costumes of the attendants, including Miss Lea Rausten, the maid of honor; and bridesmaids Mrs. Cecil Christensen of Guadalajara, Mexico; Miss Janet Rowe of Bellevue, and Miss Marvel Jensen. Each carried a crescent arrangement of polished magnolia leaves. Thomas Pollard of Sterling, Colo., and Thomas Multer lighted the candles, and Janet Pollard of Alliance was the flower girl. George Pollard of Alliance was the Bible boy.

Richard G. Pollard served as best man, and seating the guests were Wayne Rowe of Bellevue; Michael Simmons and Floyd Harberts.

The bride appeared in a gown of silk organza over taffeta. The long-sleeved fitted bodice was designed with a starburst neckline, and the wide skirt patterned with medallions of leaf applique on tulle, extended into a cotillion train. Her veil of imported illusion was held in place with a crown of orange blossoms, and she carried a cascade bouquet of white chrysanthemums and magnolia leaves.

Upon their return from a honeymoon trip to Colorado Mr. Pollard and his bride will reside in Lincoln. Mrs. Pollard is a former student at Union College. The bridegroom attended Doane College, where he is a member of Delta Kappa Pi, and now is attending Union College.

Marriage Solemnized

Pale pink peonies and white gladioli decorated the chancel of the Union Church at Wood Lake on Sunday, June 21, for the wedding of Miss Doris Marie Best, daughter of Mrs. Dorothy Best of Valentine, and Gary A. Greder, son of Mrs. Arthur Atwood of Ainsworth, and Kenneth Greder of Sioux City, Ia. The ceremony was solemnized at 2 o'clock by the Rev. J. E. Withee of Merna.

Frocked in white nylon lace over pink taffeta styled identically with large butterfly bows of taffeta were Mrs. Dale Kirkpatrick of Ainsworth, as the matron of honor; Miss Louise Best of Valentine, who was her sister's maid of honor; and the bridesmaid, Miss Karen Greder of Ainsworth, sister of the bridegroom. They carried white and pink carnations. Miss Glenda Jensen of Deloit, Ia., was the flower girl, and carrying the rings were Dennis Jensen, Deloit.

Richard Walton of Lincoln served as best man, and the ushers were Gail Greder, brother of the bridegroom, and Richard Kackmeister, both of Ainsworth. James Best, brother of the bride, and Royce Greder of Johnstown, lighted the candles.

The bride was given in marriage by her uncle, Darrel Bower of Ainsworth, and wore a princess gown of white, handclipped Chantilly lace over satin. The sculptured bodice was designed with long sleeves and a portrait neckline, and the skirt widened to hemline fullness bordered by natural scallops of the lace.

The couple will reside at 3441 Starr in Lincoln, where both are employed. They are former students at the University of Nebraska.

Summer Wedding

The wedding of Miss Janet Reeder, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. Russell Reeder of Cambridge, and James Lemmon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Lemmon of Ft. Walter Olsen before an altar appointed with lighted candles and bouquets of white and pink gladioli.

Miss Janice Reeder of Cambridge, as her sister's maid of honor, and the bridesmaid, Miss Betty Keim of Davenport, were frocked in pastel blue embroidered organza over taffeta fashioned in the Empire mode. They wore hats in matching shade and carried nosegays of pink and white blossoms.

Lehnst of Plattsmouth, became the bride of Sidney Romond Roberts, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Roberts of North Palm Beach. The lines of the service were read by the Rev. Mr. Watson of the Northwood Baptist Church.

White, leaf-patterned nylon sheer over blue taffeta fashioned the full-skirted frocks of the maid of honor, Miss Shirley Roberts of North Palm Beach, sister of the bridegroom, and the bridesmaid, Miss Gloria Bostrom, Lincoln. Their costumes were completed by chaplets of taffeta veiled with illusion. Miss Arlene Lowe of Miami was the flower girl.

J. Levi Roberts of North Palm Beach served his brother as best man, and seating the guests were Kenneth Kreckel and Charles Whorl of Riviera Beach, Fla.

The bride appeared in a gown of white Chantilly lace and tulle. HOME REDUCING PLAN

219 North 12th, LINCOLN, NEBR.

Distributed by Fashion Figures of Lincoln, Inc.

The sun shines bright on the former home of Muriel Vanderbilt. We are in the valley of Carmel, Calif., this morning. In the very home where the rich Vanderbilts clipped their coupons. Or whatever the rich do for amusement.

The home has now become a resort, Los Laureles Lodge. It has been remodeled a bit, naturally. But we people who are still working at getting rich don't mind. It is enough to live like the rich.

Across the road, the Vanderbilt stables have been remodeled into a house. I would like to live there, too.

There is nothing like reflected glory—even from a rich horse.

We are lying beside a pool that is the color of Chinese coolie pants, it is that blue. Reflecting on the fact that we shall never be rich probably.

The only coupons I clip are in the back of magazines. "Send only $1. Your money refunded if not satisfied."

I am rarely satisfied with anything. But I send my $1 with high hopes.

I get whistles that only dogs can hear. Rare items that catch fish. Books on ventriloquism. Things like that. Anything that you send only $1 for, I will go.

Meanwhile, I live in the Vanderbilt home. I live pretty good.

I return to Carmel Valley like a sailor home from the sea.

Matter of fact, I once came here direct from sea.

I came to get rich. I signed off a ship in San Francisco. The Old Man said, "I thought you were signing on again. We'll ship you quarter-master next voyage."

I told him no. I said it was time to go ashore and make my fortune before I got too old. I was exactly 21.

Bull Snake Acts More Like Cow

Harold Burn's pet bull snake was behaving more like a cow snake at Chadron State Teachers College last week.

The 4 ft. long reptile began laying eggs the second day of Burn's two week workshop in elementary school science. Burn didn't know the snake was expecting when he brought it from Denver, where he is principal of Park Hill Elementary School, for demonstrations.

The class, however, won't get a chance to follow through on this particular demonstration. The incubation period for the eggs is 64 of 71 days.

Feeling Fit as a Fiddle? Dr. Walter C. Alvarez' column "Medical Round-up" appearing in The Sunday Journal and Star gives sound advice on how to keep healthy.

twenties and a ten. I bought a car for $30 and drove right to Carmel. I put off getting rich right away. Because a man with that much gold is rich.

Somewhere along the line, I lost my momentum and have been spinning my wheels ever since.

Well, this is no time for regrets. "The rich aren't really happy," said my grandma. "Money cannot buy happiness."

This may be true. But I would like to give it the old college try. I think if I tried real hard, I could be happy though rich. It would be an interesting experiment.

I would buy a place like this, like Los Laureles. A Carmel Valley ranch house with pepper trees and palms and a swimming pool with water reflecting the blue Chinese pants sky.

I would clip coupons and roust the help around and keep horses who ate gold-plated oats. I would give a memorial wing to the hospital and new dimes for tips. I would give interviews to the papers.

"The rich are not really happy. Money cannot buy happiness."

Because there is not enough money for everybody to be rich. I would give such interviews to discourage other people from trying to get MY money.

In the meantime, I practice by living in rich surroundings. Los Laureles is not an expensive resort. It is within my present means. But you cannot argue but what it was the choice of the rich originally. The choice of the Vanderbilts.

Such ideas set me up considerably. Like putting out your little pinkie when drinking tea. It is a fine thing to reflect on during vacation.

Vacation is the only time I have the time to think about getting rich.

The rest of the year I work at it.

This is where I came those years ago, with gold pieces in the pocket, to make my fortune. And here I am again with the same idea. You cannot beat that for trying anyway.

Butler Raps Demo Chiefs For Spurning Liberal Program

Washington (UPI) Democratic National Chairman Paul M. Butler called on his party's congressional leaders Sunday to abandon their "conservative and moderate" stand or risk losing the 1960 presidential election.

Without naming names, he took a direct slap at Senate Democratic leader Lyndon B. Johnson and Speaker Sam Rayburn. He said they are following a "conservative and moderate" program to the dismay of "quite a few Democrats around the country."

Ignore Veto

Unless the Democratic Congress shows "initiative" and takes a "positive progressive attitude," he said, the party faces "a tough situation in 1960." He urged the Democrats to pass "progressive" bills even if they know President Eisenhower will veto them.

Butler, appearing on a television program, thus lined up publicly with a band of "liberal" Democrats who have been criticizing their congressional leaders, especially Johnson.

Most vocal among them have been Sens. Wayne Morse (Ore.), William Proxmire (Wis.), Joseph S. Clark

(Pa.) and Pat McNamara (Mich.).

Young Warriors

Butler said "younger members of Congress" will return to Washington "in a fighting mood" for the second session of the 86th Congress next year because "they know they will have to have a solid record of accomplishment in order to win re-election."

Butler said the Congressional seniority system placed in positions of "power and influence" Southern Democrats who do not represent the "national point of view."

Bills Hedged

Among other things, Johnson and Rayburn, both Texans, have sought to make big Democratic spending proposals "veto proof" by scaling them down to meet some of Eisenhower's objections.

These compromise tactics have been criticized by liberal Democrats who believe the party should push broad welfare legislation and then let the Republicans explain presidential vetoes in the 1960 campaign.

Miami Cops Quell Cuban Disturbance

Miami, Fla. (UPI)—Nearly 200 fist-swinging, cursing pro-Castro Cubans broke up a weekend meeting of about 50 Cuban "anti-Communists" near downtown Miami.

It took more than 50 members of the police riot squad to quell the disturbance.

Officers charged the Cuban consul general in Miami and a member of the Cuban tourist commission with inciting the riot.

The consul was badly beaten about the head and body during the fray and was in a Coral Gables hospital Sunday.

Three other Cubans, including a 16-year-old boy, also were arrested.

Several hours after the riot was broken up, a car sped by the site of the anti-Communist meeting and 6 shots were fired into the building. No one was hurt.

East, West Clergymen Meet

Meeting in Eagle Sunday were an Indian Lutheran Church leader, the Rev. B. H. Jackayya, above left, and an American Lutheran Minister, the Rev. William Landgraf, pastor of Emanuel Lutheran Church of Lidderdale, Ia., above right, who did missionary work in India from 1928 to 1951. The Rev. Jackayya administered the sacrament of Communion at a Lincoln Church Sunday and earlier in the day preached at Seward. The Rev. Jackayya's Church, the Indian Evangelical Lutheran Church, was recently accepted into fellowship with the Lutheran Church, Missouri Synod. (Star Staff Photo).

Belgian Ship Afire In Gulf

Cameron, La. (UPI)—Fire raged out of control late Sunday on a Belgian tanker about 7 miles off the Louisiana coast in the Gulf of Mexico. The crew was rescued.

A total of 9 vessels — two U.S. destroyers, 4 Coast Guard ships, two tugs and a motorship were at the scene. A fire-fighting crew of at least 12 were on board fighting the blaze.

The ship was the Anvers, a combination tanker-cargo vessel, bound out of Antwerp for Lake Charles, La.

The ship contained 800 tons of fuel oil and a cargo that consisted partly of highly inflammable resin and fish oil. The Coast Guard said if the water from the hoses were to hit the resin in the cargo, it might swell and snap the bulkheads.

Twenty-five of the 36 crewmen and the skipper's wife, Mrs. Henri Sanglier, were brought ashore to Cameron, smudged and sweaty. Capt. Sanglier and the other crewmen remained on board to fight the blaze, which broke out in the engine room.

Cubans Arrest 11

Havana (AP)—Authorities in Pinar Del Rio Province in westernmost Cuba have announced the arrest of 10 men and a woman on charges of conspiracy against the government.

Kansas Doctor Heads New Dept.

New Haven, Conn. (AP)—Dr. Harold Y. Allen of Kansas City, Kan., was named Sunday as head of the New Haven Railroad's new department of industrial medicine.

Vice President John J. Gaherin said the railroad plans an accelerated program to improve the health of employees.

Allen is a native of Pen Argyle, Pa., and a graduate of Moravian College. He received his medical degree at Jefferson Medical College, Philadelphia.

Allen has been medical director of the General Motors Corp. assembly division at Kansas City. He is married and is the father of 5 children.

Christianity Spreading In India, Lutherans Told

By Charles Beal

Although only 3% of the population of India has been converted to Christianity since St. Thomas traditionally took the Christian message to the "land of mystery" in the first century, A.D., prospects are "very bright" for the continued spread of the gospel in India.

This was the opinion of the Rev. B. H. Jackayya of India, president of the 30,500-member Indian Evangelical Lutheran Church, which only last month was accepted into fellowship by the Lutheran Church, Missouri Synod, at the Synod's 44th annual convention in California.

The Indian clergyman became the first non-caucasian to administer the sacrament of communion at Trinity Lutheran Church, at 12th and H Sunday morning.

Guest Speaker

He also was guest speaker at an early-morning service Sunday at St. John's Lutheran Church at Seward. A guest at the home of the Rev. E. H. Prange of Eagle Sunday, he was scheduled to return to his native land on Monday.

The Rev. Jackayya's position in the Lutheran Church in India, he said, approximates that of a Catholic Bishop, but he said the title "bishop" is not used.

"Christianity is now deep-rooted in India," the Rev. Jackayya said. "It is no longer just something brought into the land by foreign missionaries. It is regarded as one of India's religions."

There are about 4 million Christians in India at present, of which about 600,000 are Lutherans, he said.

Vast Area

The area presided over by the Rev. Jackayya extends from the headquarters at Nagerecoil, Kunya Kamari District at the extreme southern tip of India, to about 400 miles north where the width of the Indian peninsula is about 400 miles.

The Lutheran movement reached its stride about 1895 in India under the leadership of the Rev. Theodore Naether at Krishnagiri. He began the establishment of Lutheran schools and hospitals and ultimately was the victim of a plague epidemic.

The Rev. Jackayya's parents were converted from Hinduism to Christianity before he was born in 1913 at Kollegal in Mysore State in southern India.

Church Merger

In 1924 the church with which his parents had affiliated, broke from the main body and merged with the Lutheran Church.

He was trained in Lutheran

Monty Bets Best At British Track

London (AP)—Sir Winston Churchill, a keen racehorse owner, took Field Marshal Viscount Montgomery to the races this weekend. It was Montgomery's first visit to a British track and he wound up ahead of the old expert.

Montgomery bet on 3 of the 6 winners at the Newmarket meeting. One of his winners was Halo, owned by Churchill.

Lincoln Reports No New Polio

Lincoln has no new reported polio cases, according to Morris Siegel, president of the Lancaster County Chapter of the National Foundation.

However, Lincoln General Hospital reports that Robert Gibson, 16, of Falls City, who was admitted Friday, has been positively diagnosed as a polio case. Officials said that Gibson has received no shots. He was in good condition.

Siegel said that Lincoln's polio patients, Mrs. Ruth Carmel, Mrs. Janice Irwin and Larry Burton, are all in satisfactory condition.

Two of the city's younger polio victims, Dean Holloway and Zebbie Busick, were dismissed from Lincoln General Hospital over the week end.

Lincoln 3 tentatively diagnosed cases, A.I.C. Marshall R. Stephenson, L.A. James E. Cone and Walter Stockton, are also in satisfactory condition.

Reid Studies Israel

Tel Aviv, Israel (AP)—Ogden R. Reid, new U.S. Ambassador to Israel, told newsmen he hoped the United Nations would provide a solution to the impasse over the United Arab Republic's blockade of the Suez Canal to Israeli shipping. "My main task now," he said, "is to get to know Israel and its people better, and to study the U.S. program for assistance to Israel."

Collision At Second

Los Angeles' second baseman Charlie Neal (43) heads for the ground as he collides with Chicago's Tony Taylor, who got to base safely via a slide. Action game as Dodgers won doubleheader opener.

Tony Brooks Sets Record In Prix Win

Reims, France (AP) — Britain's Tony Brooks jammed his fiery red Ferrari into the lead from the start Sunday to win the Grand Prix de Europe automobile race at record-breaking speed.

In second place was Phil Hill of Los Angeles in another red Ferrari.

Brooks' blistering speed — set under a torrid sun that wilted cars and drivers alike — was 205.079 kilometers (127.3 miles) per hour and broke the old record set by the late Mike Hawthorn of Britain 1958 when he won the race with a speed of 201.898 kilometers (125 miles) per hour.

Jack Brabham of Australia sped his Cooper into 3rd position to hold the lead in the world's driving championship with 19 points.

The race was 50 laps over the rolling Champagne country asphalt road circuit which is shaped roughly like a triangle. It measures 8.3 kilometers (5.16 miles) for a total distance of 415.087 kilometers (257.8 miles).

POINT BLANK

By Don Bryant

Sports Editor, The Star

Shep Is Thinning Down

Larry Shepard, former Lincoln manager who guided the Chiefs to Western League pennants in 1956-57, takes time out from the Pacific Coast League grind to drop a note:

"I am losing about 3 pounds with every loss," Shep says. After an early brush with the PCL cellar, Larry's Salt Lake City club made first-division noises during June.

"We have been doing a little better of late," Larry pens. "We lost two rough road games in Portland, both 1-0. We don't have too much punch and our pitching has been spotty. George Perez (Lincoln, '57) still is not sound, but he's doing a good job. I hope his arm comes around."

"Sam Miley (Lincoln, '56-'57) has been hitting much better and Ken Toothman (Lincoln, '56) has been in and out."

When it comes to rough road trips, spotty pitching and lack of punch, Shep can get a lot of sympathy from Ira Hutchinson, the Chiefs' current bossman.

They're All Tough

Which Big 8 football team faces the roughest non-conference schedule this fall?

Well, the coaches will tell you that all the games will be murder. Most of them this fall will be on pretty solid ground.

Oklahoma, Nebraska and Missouri appear to have the stiffest schedules, with Colorado and Kansas running close behind. Kansas State has spiked up with Iowa and Iowa State has the easiest chore.

Here's the way they shape up:

Oklahoma—Northwestern, Texas, Army and Oklahoma State.

Nebraska—Texas, Minnesota, Oregon State and Indiana.

Kansas—Texas Christian, Syracuse, Boston, Oklahoma State.

Missouri—Penn State, Michigan, Southern Methodist, Air Force.

Colorado—Washington, Baylor, Arizona, Air Force.

Kansas State—Wichita, South Dakota State, Oklahoma State, Iowa.

Iowa State—Drake, Denver, South Dakota, San Jose State.

Colorado made a big improvement when it shucked traditional rival Colorado State and substituted near-by Air Force, one of the most up-and-coming clubs in the nation.

Neither the Sooners, Huskers nor the Tigers can point to a breather. Kansas may find Boston a trifle less rugged than its usual fare, while the Buffs should be able to have fun with Arizona.

San Jose State looks like the big hurdle on Iowa State's non-loop slate.

Overall, the Big 8 is heading for one of its sturdiest non-conference challenges in several years.

CHIEFS TOP TOPEKA, 4-2; 3RD IN 3-1 FIRST HALF

Burlington In For 2 Tonight

By Don Bryant

Lincoln's Chiefs wound up the first half of the Three-I League season with a 4-2 victory over Topeka Sunday night at Sherman Field before 570 fans.

By beating the Reds, the Chiefs gained sole possession of 3rd place, a half game ahead of Topeka.

Lincoln's first half record was 33 wins and 29 losses for a .532 percentage. The Chiefs were 5½ games back of Green Bay which sewed up the first half pennant and will host the league All Star game on July 15.

The Chiefs will open the second half battle with a doubleheader against Burlington tonight at Sherman Field. The first game will start at 6:30 p.m.

Ronnie Bloodworth and Al Brice are slated to hurl for Ira Hutchinson's battlers.

It was Oklahoma State night at Sherman Field Sunday as two former Cowboys combined forces to trip Topeka.

Joel Horlen, late of the NCAA championship OSU club, stopped the Reds with a 7-hitter to pick up his first win since joining the Chiefs.

And Pug Williamson, also a product of Oklahoma State, supplied the necessary punch at the plate.

Williamson's 3rd inning single drove in the first Lincoln run and the second tally crossed the plate when the ball got by the Topeka center-fielder.

After Topeka knotted the count in the 5th, Pug followed Deacon Jones 5th inning double with another single to plate the lead run that was to be enough for Horlen.

Gene Martin's infield trickler in the same frame scored Williamson with an insurance run.

Horlen was at his best in whipping Topeka bonus ace Jim Maloney, who was making his second appearance after a lengthy stretch on the disabled list with a sore flipper.

The Lincoln righthander fanned 10 Reds and walked only 3 in bringing his record to 1-1.

Smoke Signals... Lincoln turned in 2 double plays, one an unassisted twin-killing by Second Baseman Chuck Lehman on a hit-and-run play... Deacon Jones made a leaping, backhand stab of a hard smash by Al Alvarez in the 5th to rob the Red catcher of a base hit... Topeka Third Baseman Marty Rosell made several fine fielding plays...

Total Lincoln attendance for the first half of the season was 16,613... Tuesday night's game with Burlington will be preceded by the hilarious Press-Radio-TV All Stars and the Chiefs' Directors. Game time for this extravaganza will be 7 p.m.

WIMBLEDON HEADLINERS

The new king and queen of the tennis world, Alex Olmedo and Maria Bueno, share the spotlight at a ball in London after the Wimbledon tennis championships. Olmedo, Peruvian star of the United

Hoyt, Lew Probables

Managers To Name All-Star Game Starters Today

Pittsburgh (AP)—Baltimore's Hoyt Wilhelm and Milwaukee's Lew Burdette are expected to be the starting pitchers in Tuesday's 26th all-star baseball game at Forbes Field.

Managers Casey Stengel of the American League and Fred Haney of the National League will make their official announcements this morning when the batting orders also will be released to newsmen.

Stengel, the New York Yankee skipper who will be running his 9th All-Star club, has hinted strongly that the Baltimore knuckle ball pitcher would be his starter. On a recent visit to Baltimore, he told catcher Gus Triandos of the Orioles, "you are my catcher and you are going to be catching somebody close to you."

Wilhelm, a non-playing member of the 1953 All-Star squad in the National League, has enjoyed a remarkable comeback this year as a starter. He won his first 9 games before he ran into trouble.

Stengel is expected to give the Nationals a good look at Ryne Duren, his Yankee relief ace who is red hot. He probably will save Duren for the late innings, using either Chicago's early Wynn or Detroit's Jim Bunning in the middle innings. That would leave Chicago's Billy Pierce, Kansas City's Bud Daley and the Yanks' Whitey Ford for trouble spots.

If Haney decides against Burdette, his 11-game winner, he might go with Don Drysdale, the Los Angeles Dodger ace whose sidearm delivery is so effective against right handed batters. There is only one left handed batter, second baseman Nellie Fox of Chicago, in the American starting lineup.

Burdette and Drysdale both worked Saturday. The Milwaukee right hander lost a 2-1 decision to Philadelphia and Drysdale threw a 5-hitter at Chicago for a 5-2 victory.

Warren Spahn, 38-year-old southpaw ace of the Braves' staff, would be the logical choice if the American batting order weren't jammed with so many right hands. Spahn's last start was July 2.

Haas Cracks Two Homers For Optimists

Bill Haas cracked a pair of home runs and batted in 5 runs with a perfect day at the plate to lead the Lincoln Optimists to a 7-2 victory over York at Elks Field Sunday.

Haas smacked a 3-run homer in the 3rd inning and added a solo shot in the 5th. He also batted in a run in the first with a single.

York got its only runs on a pair of walks and two consecutive errors by Optimist shortstop Jeff Roberts with two out in the first inning.

Mel Hester pitched the victory for the Optimists, their 9th in 12 games. The Lincoln club plays at Grand Island tonight.

NELS' HIT SPOILS DAY FOR NED, 4-3

Kansas City (AP)—Al Smith tied the score with a home run in the 9th and the Chicago White Sox went on to defeat the Kansas City Athletics 4-3 Sunday as Luis Aparicio singled, stole second and then scampered home on Nellie Fox' safety in the 10th inning.

The White Sox wrecked what had been an almost perfect day for pitcher Ned Garver. Going into the 9th Garver had limited the White Sox to 5 hits and had a perfect day at the plate with two singles and a home run.

GREEN BAY NABS TITLE

Appleton, Wis. (AP)—Green Bay won the first title in the Three-I League by defeating Fox Cities, 5-2, in the opener of a doubleheader.

Fred Bruckbauer won the nightcap for the Foxes, 2-0, as he fanned 14 Blue Jays and batted in a run himself.

Burbon Wheeler's 5-hitter wrapped up the championship, and a post-season play-off spot, for Green Bay. A 3-run 6th inning provided the winning margin for Wheeler.

was sailing along 2-0 on a 3-hitter in the nightcap until he walked Frank Robinson with one out in the 9th and then Gus Bell unloaded a homer into the upper deck in rightfield to send the game into extra innings.

Kline drove in the first two Pirate runs with a bases-loaded single in the second and went the rest of the way for his 7th triumph against 6 setbacks. The loser was Orlando Pena in relief.

The Pirates came from behind twice in the opener and broke open a tie game with 3 runs in the 6th with Don Hoak homering off loser Brooks Lawrence for the big hit.

First Of Powder Puff Pilots Finish Cross-Country Flight

Spokane, Wash. (AP) — A Spokely Beechcraft Bonanza flown by a pretty Indiana housewife swooped in here shortly after daybreak to become the first arrival in the 13th annual transcontinental Powder Puff Derby.

Bad weather slowed the progress of the 61 other planes in the 2,470-mile race which got under way at Lawrence, Mass., Saturday morning. They were strung out from Youngstown, O., to Fargo, N.D.

Mrs. Margaret Ringenberg, Grabill, Ind., and her copilot, Mrs. Lois Laymon, Fort Wayne, Ind., completed the flight at 5:33 a.m. (PST).

Race officials said no other entries were expected to arrive here before tomorrow morning. Strong winds and low visibility grounded 3 flying teams at Helena, Mont., just 250 miles from the finish.

Stiff headwinds through the Rockies and turbulence in the Upper Plains states and the Midwest plagued the other entries. About 27 of the planes were grounded by the bad weather Sunday morning at Kokomo, Ind.

The first plane to finish is not necessarily the winner. Contestants have until Wednesday noon to arrive here. The winner will not be announced until 10 a.m. Thursday. Placings are computed on a handicap basis.

Stolen Car Found; Pair Still Sought

Omaha (AP) — A car stolen in Kearney by a State Training School escapee has been recovered in Omaha.

Police also reported that one of the 3 youths—15 year old William Jensen—was on his way back to Kearney with his parents.

The other two boys, Jim Barnhouse, 17, and Dennis Olmstead, 16, are still sought. All three youths are from Omaha.

Here is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add three. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers, left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures gives you.
